"Avoider" delves into the recurring cycle of fearing emotional vulnerability and consequently falling back into destructive patterns. The protagonist, afraid of accepting help and affection, pushes away the good in their life. Despite yearning for liberation and understanding, they only realize their mistake when it's already too late. Musically, ACCVSED didn't stray far from their distinctive sound, packing cheeky riffs mixed with brutal yet elegant vocals and a characteristic, impelling hook."

Since their formation in 2021, ACCVSED have adhered to one principle: presenting themselves to the world authentically, without playing a role or sugarcoating their expressions. They channel their deepest traumas and fears into their music, creating a distinct and energetic blend of bold guitar riffs, unique vocals, and raw emotion. This combination shapes their sound into an unstoppable force.

Hailing from Wiesbaden, ACCVSED quickly realized that being a local band was not their ambition. They moved swiftly and made a significant impact on the music scene with their debut EP, House of Doubt, released in December 2023. The breakthrough single "Currents" led the six-song EP, establishing a foundation for their constantly evolving musical style and garnering them worldwide attention. This success resulted in support shows and festival appearances throughout Germany.

"Avoider" is available on DSPs at midnight here.
